

LETTER

No one blaming teachers for Don Mills

In reply to Lynne Simon's recent letter, "Don't blame mall woes on teachers," I'm afraid I don't understand what her argument is about.

Cadillac Fairview (CF), the company which is destroying the Don Mills Centre, is owned outright by the Ontario Teachers Pension Plan (OTPP). CF exists to make ever-increasing profits for the OTPP. This is a fact. But who's blaming teachers?

I'm also a teacher and I am opposed to the destruction of the Don Mills Centre indoor mall. CF and the OTPP need to shoulder responsibility for this shame. It has nothing to do with any teacher.

As one of the demonstrators myself, I remain 100 per cent behind them and their fight against the destructive plans of both CF and its owner which sanctions them.

John Blair

NORTH YORK
THE MIRROR

Established 1957

PUBLISHER | Betty Carr
GENERAL MANAGER | Marg Middleton
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF | Deborah Bodine
MANAGING EDITOR | Bernie O'Neill
ADVERTISING MANAGER | Paula Lamnitt

Editorial and advertising content of The Mirror is protected by copyright. Unauthorized use is prohibited.
Single copies $2.00 (incl. GST).
Mail subscriptions $75 (incl. GST) per year, per edition in Canada.
The North York Mirror
100 Tempo Ave., Toronto, ON M2H 3S5